About Brown International

Since 1947, Brown International Corporation has been manufacturing fruit and vegetable juice and puree processing machinery. Since the beginning, we've always put innovation and customer service first. Today, Brown machinery is used to process a wide variety of fruit and vegetables including apples, citrus, deciduous fruits, berries, grapes, tropical fruits, tomatoes, celery, and nutraceuticals. Brown equipment is also used in the poultry protein recovery, fish processing and cheese industries, as well as wastewater treatment facilities.

Additionally, Brown's electronics control division has incorporated production line systems in many operating facilities.
